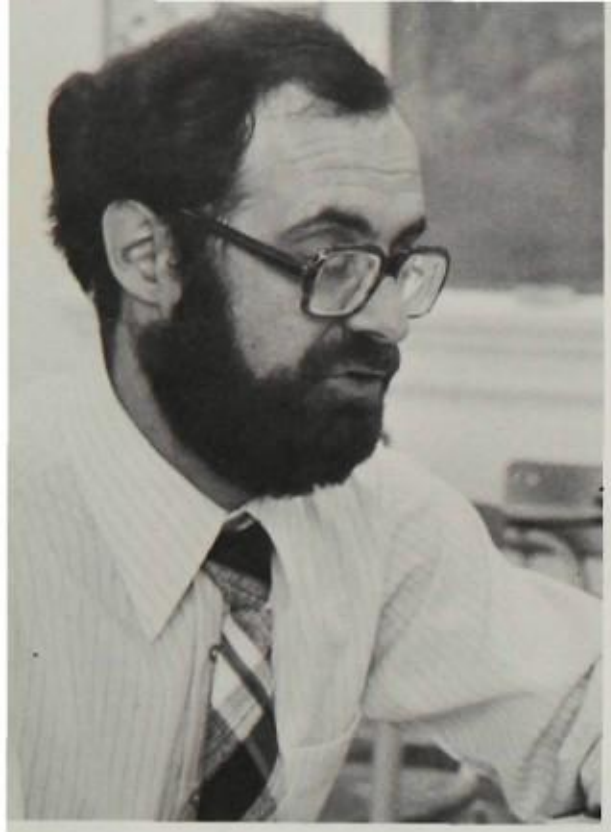
LOST AND FOUND



Clockwise From Bottom Left: Mrs. Amos, of our English Dept., was asked to teach at a University in China this year. (Seen here undergoing accupuncture treatment for a sprained ankle.) Mr. Appleyard, formerly of our English Dept. and just returned from an exchange trip to Australia, is now Consultant for Gifted and Enriched Programmes. Mr. Doug (Kangaroo) Lewis, of our French Dept., is currently in Australia on a one year teaching exchange program. Birgit Gotz, student, was over from Germany on a four month exchange trip. Mrs. Amos (Again), looking grim. Mrs. Hoyle, is over from Australia this year to replace Mr. Lewis in our French Dept. Miss Grabove, of our Theatre Arts Dept., replaces Mrs. Orr who has taken a maternity leave. Mr. Penney, is replacing Mr. Putnam, who is now at Bickford Park, as Vice-Principal. Mr. Brodie, is replacing Mr. Bhana in our Accounting Dept. Robin Broad, student, is at Northern for one year from Australia. Maryse Levesque (centre), student, is at Northern this year, down from Ramouski Quebéc.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

W.M. Cebrynsky

Have you ever considered why our society places so much emphasis on obtaining a good education?

It is generally agreed that if you have a good education you will be able to think intelligently for yourself, earn a living, demonstrate responsibility as a citizen, and be able to lead a satisfying life by working peacefully with others to survive in and improve society. In other words, education helps one to be a "complete person".

Regardless of your personal goals, you will not have nearly as good a chance of attaining them without the help of an education. One important way in which school can help your development as an individual is to teach you how to get along with other people. You learn this every day in school, in a special subject called "Human Dynamics", even though you are not formally enrolled in it. In this "course", you learn to respect your fellow students as human beings in your classes, in the lunchroom, in the gym and in the corridors. One should never make the mistake of taking this skill too lightly.

It has been said that sympathy and understanding are the marks of true education, whereas bigotry and intolerance are the marks of ignorance. It seems then that part of becoming a "complete person" has to do with living in harmony with your fellow man. This is becoming increasingly more important as our society becomes more complex. As the competition for jobs becomes stiffer, a person who knows how to get along with his fellow employees will be in much greater demand than the equally qualified person who is constantly making trouble because of his or her disagreeable, inconsiderate personality. As our society becomes more technologically complex, let us emphasize the importance of treating each other as human beings, lest we all become like machines, without feelings or compassion.

It is my sincere hope that these brief thoughts will be of some use to you in the years ahead.

My best wishes to all of you for a happy, healthy and successful future.

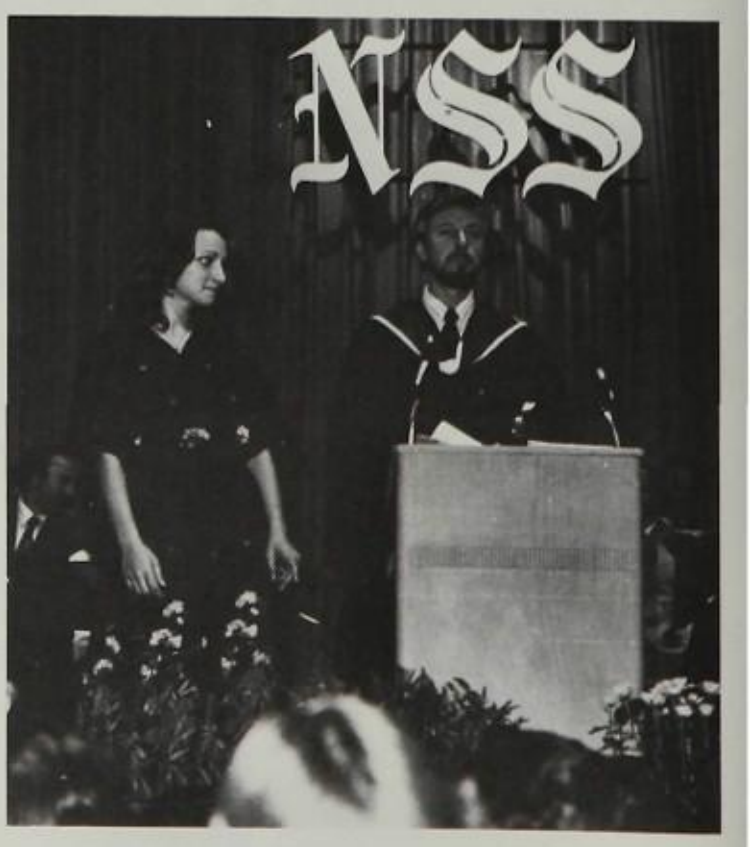
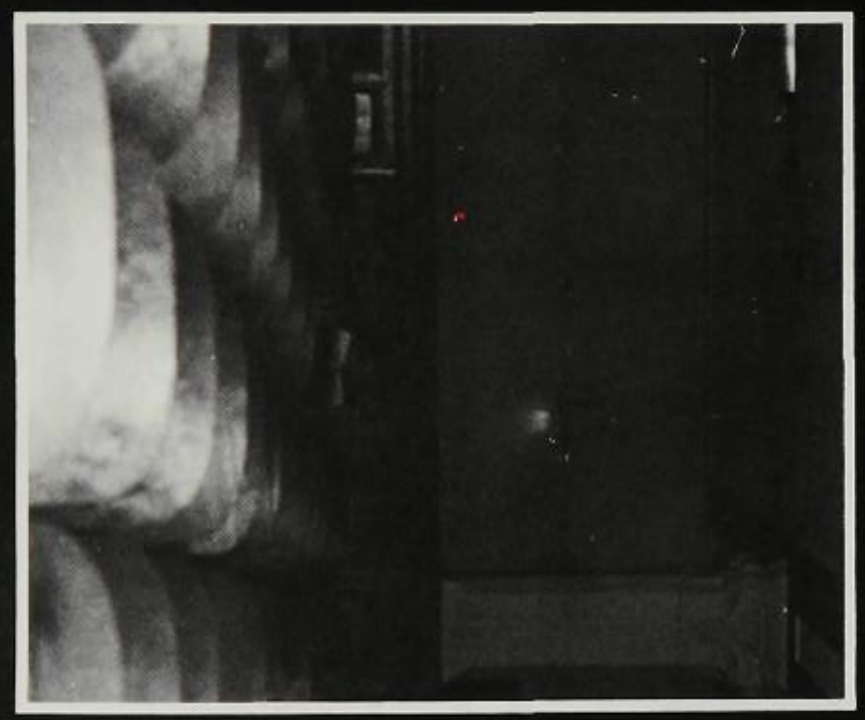
COMMENCEMENT

On the evening of November 3rd, 1978, Northern held its 48th annual Commencement. This year, 256 grade 12 students and 103 grade 13 students received their diplomas and some 71 students were given various awards and scholarships. It was an emotional occasion for the graduates as a chapter of their lives, high school life, came to a close. Mr. Bland and the concert band provided music for the occasion and Commencement closed with an inspiring speech from our graduating valedictorian, Stasie Daoutopoulos.





LITERATURE

I have lived a thousand years and loved a thousand more I have sailed across the seas and scavanged every shore

I've lived and I've loved I've soared upon high with feelings and such like a dove in the sky

People come and then go with seemingly dormant eyes not seeing the meaning of loves and of lives.

from me to you . . .
Unexplainable; even a puppy wouldn't understand.
Oh the feeling, warm and tender,
Moments of closeness draw us nearer to insanity-please understand.

It's not possible, they say (even though inexperienced we know the truth).
So much but; so little time-is IT possible?

Brown eyes searching mine-in any other situation it would be meaningless.
Please, make IT bloom, not explode like a wild and uncontrolable fire.

Insensitive, ignorant, I cry
IT is possible, even in our generation.
Watch, if you want, we don't care (or do we?)

Assured, I rest in peace.

S.J.

Everything is dark. My words are grey;
While music and soft words shall pass away
Your eyes shall not. I love your way
Of laughing like you shall not go away

I love you for I know that once you cared About my tears. I loved your unwashed hair.
I love you as I dare to love the sun;
When you are near my skies and your's are one.

Your awkwardness is grace; your words are song;
My fate is bound in yours, where I belong
With you. I love you as the sky, the rain.
Come back to me and be my love again.

Stone Lions

Stone Lions,
So still,
Placid,
Quiet.

Yet how full of life,
Noble with age,
Guarding a secret
Someone has buried deep

Stone Lions,
Alone with a breeze,
And then again,
All is quiet.

I will make you a death mask.
I will preserve your glory
in a mask of gold
for your tomb.
I will make it a fantasy like Schliman
when he declared that mask he found was Agamemnon's
I will make it beautiful.
I will make it so that I can remember you
the way I want.

I once had a butterfly land on my toe
And start to lick it

  Has a butterfly ever licked your toe?

And I have taken a raccoon for a walk in the Yukon.

  I bet you've never done that!

I've even ridden on a real Eskimo sled,
Pulled by a real Eskimo dog!

  I'm sure you've never done that!

But you, my friend, have done special things.

You make people happy just by being there.

You here me when I want to speak without words

And you are the only person I know who shovels the walk

Eulogy for a Mustang

Here lies an unwanted car
rusted old mustang
with no one to drive.
Spat on with yellow paint,
mocking the red.
Its tires as deflated

all it has now are dreams of the highway and trips to the

when it was young
when it had lots

LIFE AND DEATH

Life is something you have to live every day until someday you die and it's all gone away,
Maybe when it is over it will be for the best
Because when you are dead, dead you will rest.

You wait every day for this moment to come you are loved by most and hated by some,
For when you are dead you are really alone
But with the cold, your heart turns to stone.

Death is something we all have to face
It's something that involves the whole human race,
So while you are alive live it up without sorrow
Because when you are dead, there is no tomorrow.

That was my sister at Auschwitz
the girl who wore the tattered rags and bound her head against the cold
my sister! My sister who waited the silent agony of death watching those around her turn to paper shells.
At Auschwitz they called her my sister and every woman came,
knowing she was the one.
I looked for her
among the bodies
and found her everywhere;
running between the rows
she threw herself into each death, hoping to absorb the shock,
to let each victim die in peace.
At Auschwitz my sister, crazy and torn died a thousand deaths finding no relief from the storm.
Look for my sister who lost her life
in the terrifying hell
of civilization.
See her face in the face of the dead
as she tries to ease their pain
my sister! My sister who will ease the pain when it is your turn?

HEROES

Here I lie on the dank, muddy ground ensnared in an invisible death trap all I smell is rot and filth and carrion
all I see is garbage and decay.
Above me looms the monster slathering and grinning as he psyches himself up for dinner; me.

No hero mounted on a great, white horse can save me now.
I will save myself this time.

I draw my sword, the monster draws back
I try to stand but my caught leg is a useless blob of swollen flesh and shattered bone
I stand on one leg and a prayer:
"Give me strength, Oh Lord, to save myself."

The monster sees my pain and grins again.
He shuffles forward on hideous, boney feet and lowers his ugly head for the first morsel of me
His open mouth tempts me to surgically remove his tongue
but my aim is death to him
not heightened anger aimed at me.
I refrain,

I wait for my chance.
He turns his head heavenward and bellows
as if he had heard my God call his name.
His unprotected chest so close to me
I thrust my sword and am showered in his watery blood.

He screams his final scream,
Chokes on his final breath and dies his only death.

Over the hill rides an armored knight
on a great white horse.
He canters up smiling the smile of confidence and superiority
then spies the butchered monster and faints.
He can not stand the sight of blood.

My Hero!

THE WOLF

Driving down the road, our lights caught
his eyes.
Red-golf eyes,
reflecting fear,
not fear of us,
but of what he could not understand.
He ran, not from fear,
but because he knew
the futility of fighting.
Not pretty, and yet,
the most beautiful,
his beauty, though,
is that of the wild, and the free, contained within him
only to be seen by those who love and honour
him.
not by those who hunt and kill him

LOVE IN THE CLASSROOM

The noise roars drowns out my thoughts, it becomes difficult for me the think.
Thank God.
No more thoughts of man or destruction or history or the future or life.
or death.
but thoughts of you keep creeping through into my consciousness.
Oh, noise, my haven, these comforting sounds cannot push you to the back of my mind as I sit and watch and listen to the words of poetry streaming from your lips, your words are always poetic to me,
but we are not alone
in this room, this crowded room
Thank God.
Now I won't have to tell you how much I love you
and fear rejection,
not me,
because we are not alone in this room and noise drowns out all thought so I can die slowly
from pain,
from love.
unknown to all
in the comfort of the noise and your poetic words.

I want your permanance, if only that.

THE GAME

I remember long ago when I was young and didn't know much about the ways of the world

There was this game
they played in the schoolyard
"Boys chase the Girls" it was called and, as the name implies, the Boys did chase

the girls and ultimately caught them.
What they caught them for I don't know but one day they got me to play. An outsider to Society's rituals and rules unaccepted for the most part, as a person but only for being smart. I played this game with them and felt accepted, for once Unfortunately I didn't know the rules too well. I didn't know, for instance, that the boy was supposed to be allowed

To catch me because after all, girls were supposed to be cute and helpless, trying to catch boys by having boys catch them.

So I kicked
this poor unsuspecting guy in the stomach, all in self-defense of course. Then those girls yelled at me and said that wasn't

Part of the game
All the while this poor guy was crying on the ground and holding his stomach. So I was sent

Outside the group again but I went more than willingly and I never played that game again.

If Only I Could Be Rid Of Them

As usual our class starts a little late. As usual it's that group of very "in" people, sitting at the back of the room, who are holding up the class with their chatter. Evidently, they find it more important than the lesson.

Damn them, they never stop yapping! What are they doing in this class anyway? They never listen, and meanwhile, they just ruin the chance for anyone else to learn anything. As a matter of fact, I think that that's violating the right to education. They also talk back to teachers in such a rude tone of voice that something really should be done. I suppose they need the attention of others to feel secure, using stupidity as their means of attraction. Still, something really should be done. Too bad the teacher can't just toss them out permanently or at least smack them into line. Certainly, something must be done.

Hmmm . . . look at that bright reflection off the rim of the garbage can. Now wouldn't it be neat if somehow I were the source of that reflected light? Yes, or if I could at least fire heat beams just like those superheroes in the Saturday morning cartoons. Wouldn't it be wonderful if at my slightest whim, I could simply raise a hand in the direction of one of those cocky puppets and incinerate him like garbage in a furnace? I smile, perhaps sadistically, as I entertain the idea. How enriching my classes would be without those troublesome "students" who hinder teaching of any kind! How much more we could accomplish without those "students" to waste ten minutes of every class! Oh what a joy it would be to learn with people with a real desire to learn!

Yes, if only I had that power. Then, no longer would anyone have to tolerate that wise guy in Math, for I could simply burn him to ashes like a torch to a twig. No longer would anyone have to listen to that mouthy, spoiled brat of a girl in Physics, for I could simply fry her little brain like so much grease on a griddle.

I wriggle in delight. Imagine aiming a sizzling beam of energy at that relentlessly babbling clique of pretty girls in History. They would end their days like cute little pine cones crackling in a great bonfire. Yes, to remove those people and others like them, who are interested only in their superficial gosiping rather than in real learning, what a joy it would be.

Well, the class has finally started, but even as the teacher opens his mouth those people are chattering away again. Looking toward them over my shoulder, I aim a finger amd imagine absorbing the sun's energy, using it to zap them with a great bolt of lightning like Zeus atop Mount Olympus. Hard as I concentrate though, it is unfortunately of no avail. Rats! If only it really worked.

Look, even now one of them is arguing with the teacher about his behaviour. Hee. Ho. As he says something which his friends find amusing, he finally sits down and the teacher continues as best he can. What the fellow said was really not very funny, nor ever is, but since I sadly can't seem to destroy him with energy beams, or even make disappear, I suppose that for now, I'll just have to live with him and yes, all the others too. For now though, I suppose it's not really that bad, because as my friend points out they sometimes make the class a little interesting. But oh, how painfully little . . .

MADNESS

What is madness?
It's anger, frustration, dislike, contempt and dissappointment
all mixed together.
A lovely combination
if I do say so myself.
It's trials and tribulations
It's beating your head against the wall
But most of all
Madness is being mad.

Tanya Pohl

In the library,
everyone's supposed to be quiet . . .
because otherwise the books can't concentrate and with noise —
the fairy tales can't drop magic on the fiction —
or the non fiction—
and no one will be satisfied, especially the librarian,
who will scream and yell and keep lifting her eyebrows till we shut up — because libraries are meant for silence and that is why they're called the silence rooms — where no one dare tread — unless they want a book.

Mara Gulens

Prejudice

Look at his body,
The expressions on his face;
He's not too different from us
Except for his race.

He feels pain from the words
Which everyone says,
When his back is turned
Or when his presence is near.

His colour may be different
But he eats, sleeps, and breathes;
If you look at him closely you'll see,
He's not too different from me.

Then why, I say,
If we're so much alike
Must he walk alone
Through day and through night?

He's only human
And I hope so are we;
So if I can be accepted,
Why can't he?

Greg Katz

PLEASE HEAR WHAT I AM NOT SAYING

don't be fooled by me,
don't be fooled by the face I wear,
for I wear a mask, a thousand masks,
masks which I am afraid to take off,
and none of them is me.
pretending is the art which is second nature to me,
but don't be fooled, for God's sake, don't be fooled.
I gave you the impression that I was secure,
that all is sunny and unruffled with me,
within as well as without.
that confidence is my name and coolness my game,
that the water's calm and I'm in command,
and that I need no one,
but don't believe me,
please.
my surface may seem smooth but it is a mask,
my ever varying and concealing mask,
beneath me lies the real me in confusion, in fear,
in aloneness.
but I hide this,
I don't want anyone to know this,
I panic at the thought of my weakness and fear,
of being exposed.
that is why I frantically find a mask to hide behind,
a highly-intelligent fantasy to help me pretend,
to sheild me from the glance that knows but such a glance is precisely my salvation and I know it.
that is if it is followed by acceptance, if it is followed by love
it is the only thing that can liberate me from myself from my own self-built prison walls from the barriers that I so painstakingly errect it is the only thing that can assure me of what I can't assure myself that I am really worth something but I can't tell you this. I don't dare I'm too afraid to I'm afraid your glance will not be followed by acceptance and love
I'm afraid that you will think less of me that you will laugh at me and your laugh will kill me
I'm afraid that deep down I'm nothing, that I'm no good and that you will see this and reject me so I play my game, my desperate pretending game with a frame of assurance without, a trembling child within,
and so begins the parades of masks and my life becomes a front
I idly chatter with you in the suave tone of surface talks
I'll tell you everything that's really nothing and nothing of what's everything of what's crying within me
so I'm going through my routine don't be fooled by what I'm saying please listen carefully and listen to what I'm not saying but what I can't say, I dislike hiding, honestly
I dislike this superficial game
I'm playing this superficial, phoney game
I would like to be genuine and spontaneous and me
but you have got to help me
I . . .

I HATE POETRY

There are few things I hate more than poetry,
The writing of which is, for me, an impossibility.
Teachers don't notice my silent, anguished cries,
As my face turns red, and my pulse begins to rise.

A silly little verse, I'm asked to analyze,
Every poet ever born I detest and despise.
An uncultured ignoramus, perhaps I am,
When I was five I read not Shakespeare, but Superman.

The clock ticks twenty minutes past three,
My eyes are open, but just barely.
I sit here and I think, and think, desperately,
Perhaps I'll stumble upon a rhyme, a rythm or a melody.

I must hurry, hurry, hurry, I have no time,
Papers I've crumpled so far, eight . . . nine.
In a few short hours I'll be in English class,
Verbs, nouns, and that kind of trash.

I skip lunch and head for the library,
A pencil and notebook I carry with me.
The clock tick tocks twelve thirty-five,
Through the doors and into my seat I dive.

My face is blue because I'm out of breath,
Past exhaustion and pretty near death.
My poem? I made it just barely,
God, how I do hate poetry.

Tony Argiloff

King Arthur

King Art was a jolly old sort,
but was tres bravado.
Patsy, his servant used to retort:
You silly twit.
Merlin was a mysterious guy,
but he was very intelligent.
His owl used to ask him why:
Do you smell?
Guinevere was a beautiful gal,
but she was also sly.
Lancelot was her great pal, (no connotations)
But she also liked the blacksmith
Lancelot was a tres brave knight, but his favorite colour was blue.
His mother used to fly a kite;
Until she got electrocuted.

SONNET VIII

I want to write a splendid poem for you
That glory shines through; tenderness betrayed
No more by sentiment, I want to woo
The slender, splendid wisdom you have made
From empty laughter and vain tears instead
Of memories and fragile treasured dreams.
I would not have you think, "This was well said;
It was a splendid poem and what you mean
Is clear and pertinent." I would have failed
Had you said that. I want to win your soul
And not your finite mind. My words, unveiled
Are meant to make you love me, free and whole.
This poem is not for words' sake: It's for you,
But say you love me and my words are true.

CHARACTER SKETCH

Subject: Ameen's glasses

On first impression these glasses seem to be just ordinary glasses BUT that is just the opposite!!

These nickel-plated glasses with the smokey white plastic ear guards do not have just ordinary glass in them but specially ground plastic lenses which aid Ameen's vision 100% (he is nearsighted).

Ameen's glasses are extremely valiant and work for Ameen for NOTHING! This is just one example of the dedication shown by his glasses (or "specs" as he fondly calls them). They are also gracious and well-mannered and on many occasions when Ameen's arms are full his glasses will run ahead and hold the door open for him, without even being asked!!

When Ameen can't see his glasses let him see perfectly. PLUS on dreary mornings they get up early and make his breakfast for him!

(It has been rumoured that on several occasions these glasses have saved Ameen's life!)

Also, his glasses have quite a sense of humour and often provide Ameen with party jokes, or make him break out in a fit of laughter. Yes, these glasses are so funny they have appeared more than once on the "Johnny Carson Show".

Talk about glasses! Wow! These have to be the best glasses around! They are funny, clever, witty and brave. These glasses are truly Ameen's best friend.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A SOLDIER

Eleven year old Billy Farthing reached down and grabbed a hand grenade. He took careful aim and let it fly. Splat! He had hit the target. Again he grabbed a handful of snow; this time he blew a hole in the window of the drugstore. As the water dripped down, the owner came out. Billy ran like the wind. The pharmacist wiped off his window and went back in with a soft curse on his lips.

Billy ran until his feet were sore and wet. He dived to the safety of a bunker, grabbed a machine gun from a dead soldier and started blasting away, but his stick snapped so Billy got out of the snow drift and continued his mission.

Billy jumped in his jeep and roared away at 60 km/h. He almost hit a tree, so he abondoned the sled. "Now", he thought, "time for my mission".

Cunningly, he hid behind an old bomb shelter and then he ran swiftly to a tank beside a telegraph pole. The enemy soldier was right on time. The garbage truck moved, so Billy was forced into the open. He leaped on the target and tried to stab him, but his icicle broke. On the ground, with a face full of snow, lay the mailman. Before he could tell what hit him, Billy was gone.

Having failed his mission, the only thing he could do was commit suicide, so he got out his suicide pill and swallowed it.

"Mmmm . . . strawberry", thought Billy.

He collapsed on his back in the snow. When he got up he knew he was in heaven because of the angel he left in the snow where he was laying.

He returned to camp for chow. The cook dished out his favorite grub steak.

"Time to hit the sack, Private", was the order given by Sergeant Dad. "It's 20:00 hours."

"Okay, Sarge", was Billy's reply.

As he lay in his bed, Billy looked at his G.I. Joe on his dresser, under attack from a bomber hanging on his ceiling.

"Tomorrow is Monday," he reminded himself. "Back to training camp for my mission next week."

"AMY"

There is a little girl
I know quite well,
She's a really good friend,
Yes, my little pal.
With eyes so blue,
Skin so fair,
Her beauty is everlasting,
With her long blond hair.
She is not that healthy,
I'm sorry to say
Doing nothing wrong,
God seems to make her pay.
When she was small,
Her asthma began appearing,
And now God has begun
To take her hearing.
So I pray each night
and ask God, to make things right
For the little girl that
I know quite well,
She's a really good friend
Yes, my little pal.

Elizabeth Crighton

Children that hurt
With stone sharpened words,

At the sight of blood they apologise
Knowing the pain but not feeling it.

And back in the cradle
They wonder why there are tears on the face of the bleeding friend.

They offer a band-aid.
  Refused.

We know, but we don't understand Feelings of kindness or trust
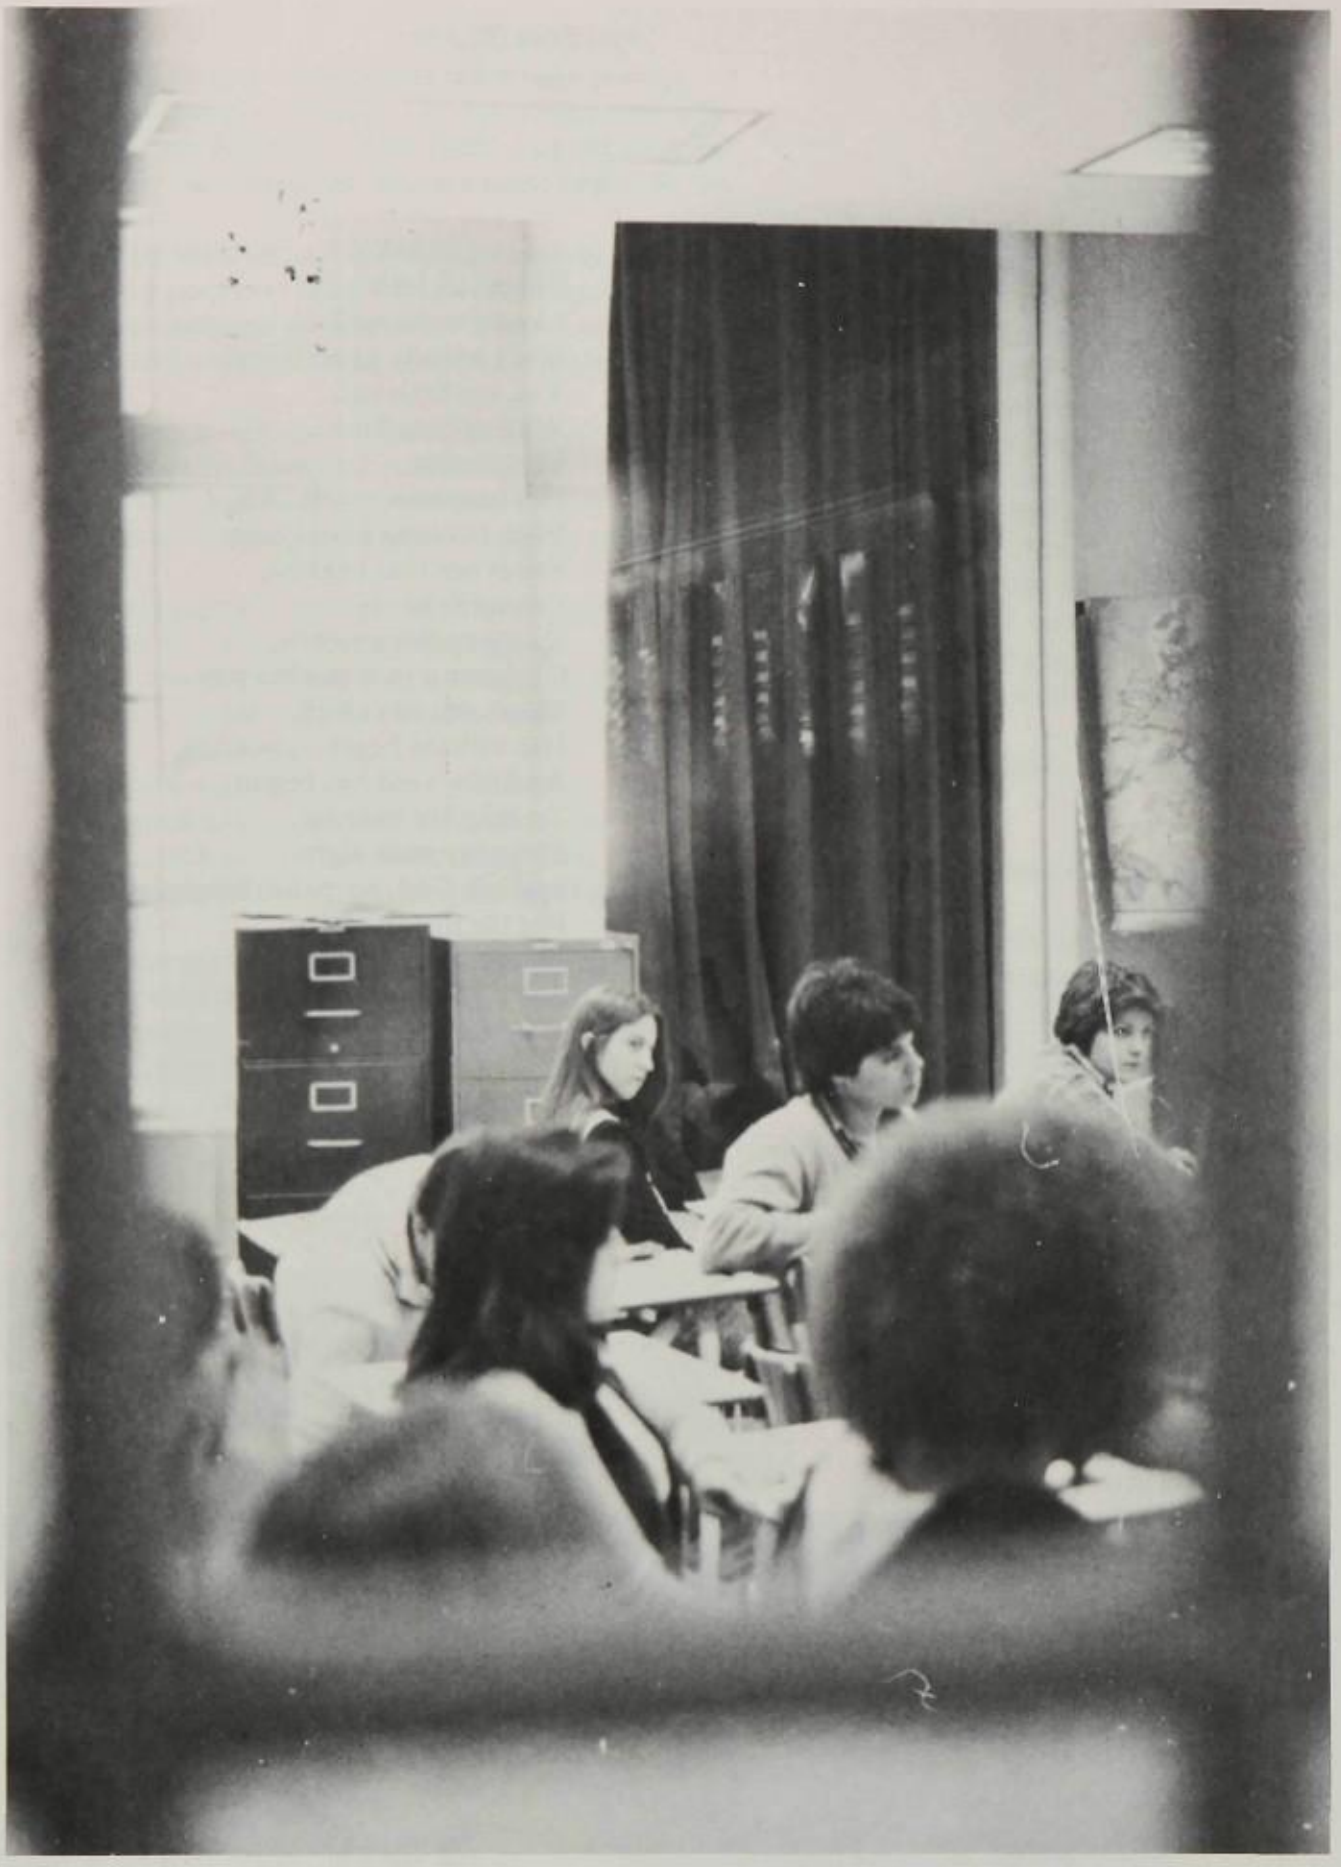
        or friendship

And back in the cradle
I wonder why there are tears
on my face.

Daisy's Friend.



LIFE IS . . .

Where there is faith
there is peace
Where there is peace
there is love
Where there is love
there is God
Where there is God
there is no need.

The Dreamer

A dream
pure, untouched,
as innocent
as a new born babe,
is kept inside
the dreamer,
its beauty not seen nor heard
by anyone else.
But once the dream lies open
for all to see,
it is raped
of its innocence,
its beauty fades
and the dreamer is crushed
like footsteps
in the fallen snow.
The dream dies
then the dreamer
withers away.

Mary Ioannou

I came; I see; Behold! and now I leave, berift of all the things I had to give an adult now who wipes eyes with a sleeve emerging from the sheltered depths to live.

and here I am — you made me thus — Who's won?
look now with silence, and your pride or shame shall be the only judgement; we have done good things together since you called my name.

Close the door. I go unto another sky you give me up, but I shall not forget
I can't look back, but this I won't deny:
It was well met, my friend, it was well met.

THE GREAT BIKE RACE

On October 18, 1978 the pungent aroma of burning rubber once again filled the air around Northern, as the FIFTH Annual Great Bike Race summoned the loyal Northern rowdies to the track, the proceeds of which contributed to Northern's very successful United Way Campaign. The sound system was out in full force, providing music and a somewhat muffled commentary by Andrew Kieran. The winners of the race were Miss Sorenson's "CRIPPLERS" but the real winners were the recipients of United Way funds. Northern again surpassed their goal by donating over $3,600 to this worthwhile cause. Many Thanks. Student Council.

Northern's inaugural baseball season turned out to be an encouraging one, thanks to the coaching of Mr. Duncan and Mr. Inrig, and the hard work and dedication of the players. The fan support received was nearly non-existent. A larger turnout is essential for the success of the team, whose final record in their first season was 2-4-1. I'm sure the players and coaches are looking forward to this year with renewed enthusiam.

BANTAM FOOTBALL TEAM

This years' Bantam Football team had a successful season. This, unfortunately was not shown on the scoreboard, but was shown when by the end of the season we had learned the fundamentals of football and were playing as a team, not as individuals. In our first game we played extremely well but lost in the final minutes 1-0 to Central Tech. Our next contest was against Lawrence Park. We played a strong offensive game but lost 29-26. After our strong showing in the first 2 games we became over-confident, and lost to Monarch Park 20-6. The next game wasn't our best but we still tied Parkdale 8-8. In our final game we faced Western Tech, the first place team, we played a hard fought game however we still lost 20-7. On behalf of the Bantam Red Knights we would like to thank Coach Hutton and Lowe for all the time and effort they gave to the team. John Wheeler and David Lowe.

JR. RED KNIGHT FINALISTS

We entered our first game in high spirits and in top physical condition. Our first opponents were our "friends up the street" North Toronto. We defeated them by a score of 6-2. The defense turned in another steady performance against Parkdale, whom we shut out 6-0. The offense exploded for 25 points against Lawrence Park with Northern winning 25-8. Due to a lack of aggressive play and assurance of a playoff berth we dropped a decison to Humberside, 25-15. Determined to play aggressive football we met Danforth Tech in our last regular season game. Danforth defaulted at half time with Northern winning 27-0 at that time. We were pitted against the Huskies of Humberside in a sudden semi-final. The game resulted in a Red Knight victory by the score of 23-7. This was easily our best overall game of the year. We had the honour of playing at CNE stadium and our opponents were undefeated Central Tech. We lost 35-22 in an exciting offensive display by both teams. Even though we lost, we grew as a team.

SR. FOOTBALL CITY CHAMPIONS

With the loss of many players from last years finalist team many people were skeptical about how Northern would do in the upcoming season. Using a core of returning players and a multitude of highly talented first year seniors by the time of our first league game against NT we had worked ourselves into a highly disciplined unit. Bitter memories of last years defeat by NT inspired us to a 31 to 14 romp. Our next game pitted us against a strong Parkdale team who we narrowly defeated 16 to 15. Next we met Lawrence Park whom we surprisingly defeated 25 to 6. The following week faced us with Humberside who were always a team to be contended with. With this in mind a hard fought game found us on top at the gun with a 34 to 16 victory. The last game of the regular season was against Danforth whom we eliminated 39 to 7. To cap off a perfect 5 — 0 season. The semi-finals matched us with Central Tech who took an early lead in the first half of play. In the second half Paul Young led the team with four touchdowns to help us defeat Central 38 to 21. Advancing again to the finals for the second time in two years we found ourselves facing Lawrence Park at the CNE. In a rather one-sided game in which the defence played one of their best games of this year. We won with a convincing 26 to 0 score finishing up with an amazing 7 wins and 0 loses recorded. Congratulations are in order to Mr. Pulford and Mr. Currah who were helped in their coaching responsibilities by Mr. Rose and Mr. Nuppola whose help proved invaluable to the team. Thanks also to the students and staff at Northern who supported us throughout the year.

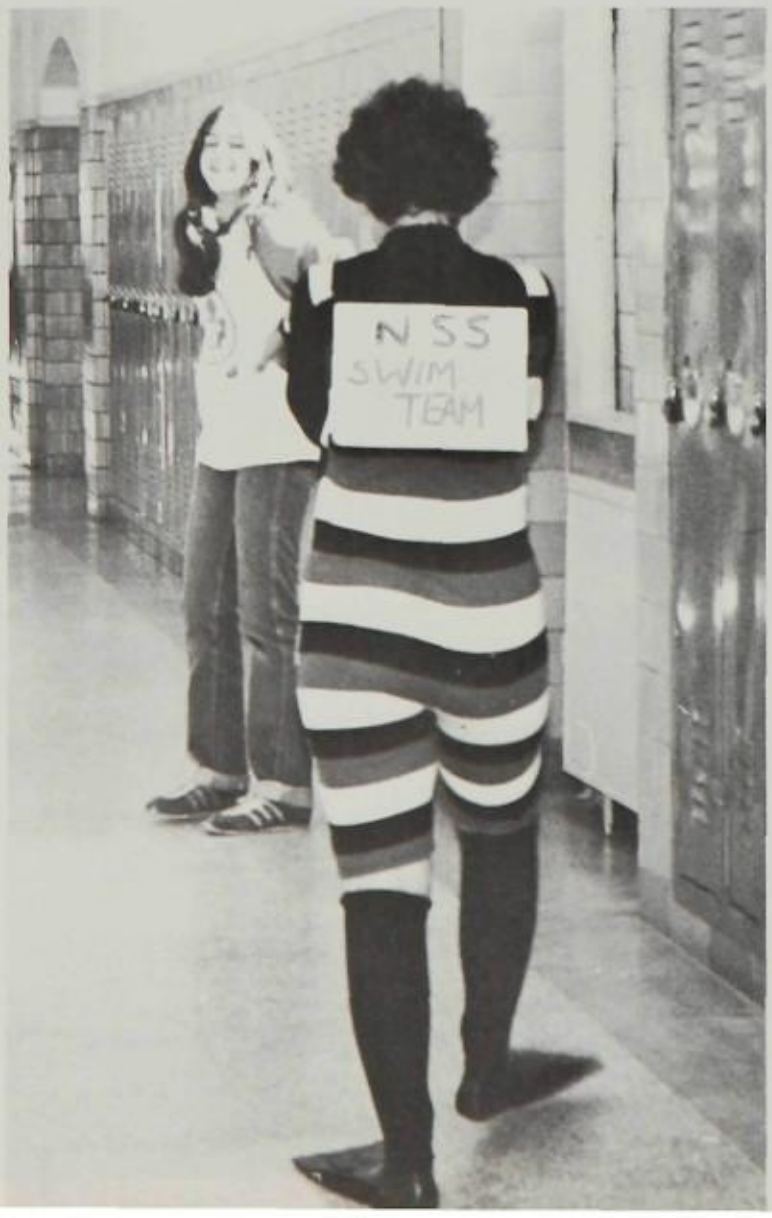
FIRST FORM



The G.A.A. got off to a good start this year with our first event being the First Form Party. Over one hundred enthusiastic grade nine girls dressed up in any kind of crazy athletic attire. After a long and difficult decision Colleen McKenna, was chosen as Miss First Form. The rest of the first term consisted of various intramurals. In the spring we will be looking forward to many more events such as Athletic Nights, the Athletic Assembly, the Athletic Banquet, and more intramurals. I would like to thank everyone on the G.A.A. and the entire Phys. -ed staff for helping make this year a good one.

Northern's soccer team made its most impressive showing in recent history, capturing eleven of fourteen points in league play this year. This is a remarkable contrast from last years total of one point. Perhaps the biggest reason for the teams success this year was attitude. This attitude amounted to the old saying, "It's not whether you win or lose, and it's not how you play the game, it's how much you enjoy yourself." Enjoy ourselves we did; before games, during games, after games, and even on weekends between games. In short, the season could be summed up by the team cheer, "Cool Ones!" Many thanks to our great coaches and assistants, Northern's cheerleaders, our loyal fans and groupies (remember Newmarket?)

Soccer rules the world, Northern Beware!

The Junior Soccer Team completed the season this year with one win, two ties, and three losses in league games. At the Newmarket OFSSA Tournament however, they won the consolation finals of their division. They lost the first game 1-0, won the second game 4-1, and clinched the final game against L'Amourex CI from Scarbourough by a score of 1-0. Congratulations to all Junior Players and their parents for their support and cooperation.

BASKETBALL GIRLS

The team had a rough start and we lost our first few games. Eventually we got things rolling and we finally began to win some games. Unfortunately, when everything was going so well our playing season came to an end. Even though we did not make the playoffs we improved in all areas and we also had a lot of fun. None of this could have happened without our terrific coach Mrs. Smith. The girls who were on the team will not only make a valuable contribution to the team next year but also to the school spirit at Northern.

SEAN JAMIESON: Applications now being accepted for membership in the chronological penquin society.
SHARON JENNINGS: It is a glorious privilege to live, to know, to act, to listen, to behold, to love.
LAURA KEITH: Yeah Red Nights!
MITCHELL LIPTON: A Rose is a Rose is a Rose BUT School is a Pain in the neck. Thanks everyone for making it bearable.
LAUREL MacLEOD: Late again? mmm . . .
MARK REITER: To all newcomers. "Welcome to the Machine", and to all Grads. "Have a cigar, you're going to go far."
SUSAN ROZNIOWSKI: I'll always remember my years at Northern. Thanks everyone.
DAVE SMITH: I'm a new kid at Northern, and WOW! What a school! and that's the name of that tune.
IAN CARPENTER: North Toronto has Barry Gibb, Northern has the Rolling Stones.
GREG COOKSON: I'm just as confused as the Italian.
BARB COUCHMAN: The only way to learn is to become part of the revolution. The only way to support a revolution is to create your own.
CHERYL DUNBAR: Northern: I loved and hated you, but I'll never forget you.
KAREN GRANT: Colette, Jan, Rod, Senior Soccer, vocal music. It's been a slice don't say it hasn't.

LISA HATTON: Times are changing but friends will always be the same. Thanks for making my years at Northern the best.
LORRIE KLINCK: It has been a great four years!
LUCY KURASZEWSKE: Dear Northern: Thanks for the memories. It's my first year here and I hope it will be my last.
LIU ASHLEY: Purple haze all in my eyes, don't know if it's day or night, you got to blow my mind, is it tomorrow or just the end of time.
JOHN LUMSDEN: At times, the system made me feel like I was behind bars.
JOHN O'NEIL: Everyone says school is a drag, I agree!
ROSEMARY PALUMBO: Peace, love and Bangladesh.
ALEXANDRA PAPADOPOULOS: Experiences I'll never forget.
JIM PRICE: Northern's like an armpit without deodorant, it stinks.
HELENA SANTOS: To all the fantastic people and teachers who made my years memorable.
SUE BUCHAN: To all my favorite jokers, we're just wild and crazy girls! Allwhata?
KEITH CAREW: "Thars gold in them thar hills."
DEBBIE FOSTER: Life is like a circle you just keep going around and around.

MARY KENNEALLY: Smile, it looks good on you!
CARL MANDEL: When I look back at the 4 years I've been at this school I've had some good times and some bad. But, all the times were great experiences.
TRACY NEISER: When all your defenses are down, you've revealed the lowest you can possibly be and you're still accepted, then you know you've found friends.
TRISH O'REILLY: Hera: For a moment he was Apollo . . . I'm Gone (Yummy).
DOUG PRENTICE: The big bang escaped cosmic censorship, it was a naked singularity.
LISA ROMANCZYK: From one stacked fox to another; how about shotting some pool with a couple of Cody Cuties.
SUE SIMPSON: It's not time to make a change, just relax and take it easy . . .
ISHRATH VELSHI: Struggle is the meaning of life, if you give in to defeat, you'll be a quitter. And all life is lost.
ART VERWEY: You can leave if you want, but remember if you turn and walk away, don't look back, look to the future.
LINDA WILSON: "STEPS."
PHILIP WINCH: Everybody wants to get stoned. Bob Dylan.
DAVID ATWOOD: J.R. thanks for such a great year, we should do the same thing next year.
ROBIN BEARDSLEY: These past 4 years have been GREAT! I hope that there is more fun to follow. Thanks Northern!
EDDIE BENDER: As I look back I see both good times and bad, but more good than bad. (Disco Sucks!)
MICHAEL COLICOS: Look ahead, Turn it around and Don't look back.
HEATHER COOK: Je te souhaite un jour plein de soleil, et une année trés heureuse.
REAN CROSS: It's our turn, after 4 yrs! Laur, J, it's been a slice. Keep on T-Warping-Catch thou (in Sudbury?).
JOHN LAUGHTON: Life is what you make of it. It is better to have tried and failed, than to not try at all.
JOHN LUKENS: Just an ordinary paper boy lost in the shuffle. Please don't stack the deck.

ADAM CHILDS: Soccer players make better loves (and party'ers!!).
JOSEPH CHOW: Could someone tell me where I'm going?
BARTON CHU: Northern, I should have come here sooner. Three years is not enough!!!
JOHN DAVIDSON: What exactly was the purpose? I mean, why for? To someone special. Love Ya!!!
JULIA GOLDY: In life one does three things: learns, love and dies.
HARRY KEMPMANN: The memories will survive . . .
VINCENT LEE: First stage of my life will be finished and the second stage is soon to begin.
PATER LEHRBAUM: ALMOST THERE!!!
PETER McMILLAN: In education, there is no class distinction. Slotback, Esquire.
MARK NATHANIELSZ: School's over! "Let the fun and games begin!!!"
SANDRA SCOTT: May the halls of Northern forever echo with the sound of laughter for life is very empty without it!!!
GEOFF SHAW: Thanks to all the friends (including teachers) who made Northern a wonderful place to be.

JACKIE SHEN: When will I see you again!!!
SUE THOMPSON: Pals from Northern, I'll always remember you! Love is old and new but always more beautiful with you, Chuckles!!!
ROWENA TOPP: Marvelous mixture of joy and anguish — PTL.
BRUCE BUFFY: You weren't put on this earth for a long time, you were put on for a good time, so make the best of it.
STEPHANIE CROFT: To The Gang: Friends are what life is about. We've been through it all. May the bonds strengthen and last forever.
DONALD DARWENT: It took me over 24 hours to become inspired, and the only reflection which came to my mind was from a diagram.
LOIS DAVIDSON: I am not what I ought to be or hope to be; but, praise the Lord, I am not what I used to be.

DAVID TURNBULL: Fellow Students: Revolt now, ban the annual (cough, cough, gagh) Easter experiments. S. Pinchnose.
STEVE ALI: Five years ago I came into this school confused and lost, I'm unhappy to say, I leave the same way.
JOE AZEVEDO: It's been three grand years at N.S.S. See you all in the near future. Ciao.
DONNA BROMLEY: Northern offers a lot, but the people are the greatest gift of all. Thanks.
CAROLYN BROWN: Thanks to the group of Seven.
SHELLEY CARTY: "They say school is for learning; But what they don't specify, is what we learn." Thanks Northern.
CLAIRE CREAGHAN: It has been a terrific five years at N.S.S. Thanks for all the great memories — a special thanks to Pokey and Sprout. Keep Smilin.
KIM MARTIN: Wow, Five years have never gone by so fast. It's been G-R-E-A-T!!! Thank you Northern. For everything.
DIANE PATTERSON: These past five years have gone by quickly leaving a lot of memories and friends to cherish. Thank goodness my high school years are finished.
KELLEY REID: Good-Bye, so long, it's time to say good-bye, from me to you it's time to say good-bye, GOOD-BYE!!!
MIKE SNYDER: Northern Secondary is complete; straights and druggies make it unique; Lots of fun and games galore But who's kidding who? Its a BORE!!
JOHN STEWART: Six years I have used, one I abused, the things I have learned. My life has been turned. But life's been good!

Microcomputers
FOR HOME & BUSINESS . . .

Home uses are limited only by your imagination. Regulate heat and light to save fuel. Run a complex model railroad, compute taxes, store recipes. Play a variety of TV games, not only computer Hockey and Tennis, but more interesting and complex games such as 'Space Voyage' where your starship takes on a fleet of Klingon warships. Several sophisticated games are available off the shelf or you can develop your own.

Use our systems as full fledged business computers. Compose and edit letters, produce financial reports, mailing lists, payroll, statements, inventory control and more. We also offer programming services for these applications.

Microcomputers are well suited for use in schools and universities. Teach computer programming and computer concepts inexpensively. Once the students are finished with it for the day, take it home and work on exam results, etc.

Use microcomputers to analyze data statistically, control lab equipment, prepare graphics.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The school year 78/79 has been one of the most hectic and yet one of the most enjoyable and memorable for the members of the Student Council. Trying to meet the needs of a student population well over 2000 is certainly a challenge. Of course, it would be impossible to please everyone but in accomplishing our goals for this year, we hope we have helped to make life at school a little more interesting. During the first and second terms some Student Council activities have included several dances, a very successful United Way Campaign, the Great Bike Race, Northern's first Toy Drive at Christmas, a contest to find a cover design for the yearbook, and "Ski Friday". The third term has yet to come, but with the formal at Ontario Place, Talent Night, The Art Show, and various other events, it is sure to be lot of fun. We would like to give special thanks to all those faithful teachers and staff members without whom many of these activities would not have been possible. Through our many experiences connected with Student Council, we have found that school can go far beyond the routine of sitting in a classroom eight periods a day. We hope that by participating in activities and interacting with other students, your year has been as fulfilling as ours. Student Council Executive
